The Emily Program in Cleveland Moves Outpatient Services to New Location

Cleveland, Ohio. May 13, 2019 - The Emily Program, a national leader in eating disorder treatment, has moved its outpatient facility in Ohio to a new location, with services beginning at the new site on May 13th. The company moved its outpatient facility to a new building so it can better meet the demand for eating disorder services in the region.

The new facility, which serves adolescents and adults, offers the same intensive day programs and outpatient programs as its previous location. The Emily Program intensive programs provide evidence-based specialty care consisting of group therapy, individual therapy, nutrition evaluation and counseling, medical and psychiatric services, mindfulness and yoga interventions, and family/support person involvement.

“We’re so excited to welcome clients into the new building,” said Brittany Davis, the site director for The Emily Program’s Cleveland Outpatient site. “The space was thoughtfully designed specifically for eating disorder treatment, so we know it’s going to allow us to provide our clients with the best possible care.”

The new Emily Program location features amenities such as an updated kitchen, dining area, group therapy rooms, private therapy offices, exam rooms, and a yoga studio.

The new address is 3401 Enterprise Parkway, Beachwood, OH 44122. The Emily Program’s Cleveland Residential site, which provides around-the-clock treatment for adults with eating disorders, has not moved and will remain in its Cleveland Heights location.
